CLARK FAMILY NEWS

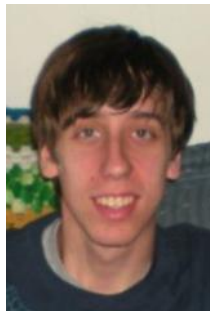

LOOKING BACK AT 2010

Thinking back about this past year, Rochelle and I are just so very thankful for our many friends. It's been great to read through many "family updates" from family and partner friends and friends in Japan and staff in other parts of the world we know! God has indeed blessed us with many relationships that bring such joy and encouragement. We love everyone's cards, letters and emails, thanks for including us!

This picture was taken while our family was up in PA for Christmas with Rochelle's mom and sister and her husband and their 5 dogs (Sis is a veterinarian).

We had a great snowy Christmas (day after) and got to sled and throw snow and play. There's more pictures on facebook.

2010 included some wonderful answers to prayer! Thank you Jesus! Ben's surgery went great and he looks awesome! He's now into his junior year at Univ. Central Florida studying sports and fitness.

Another major prayer answer was our house purchase, and we now seem to have a growing list of things that we want to do or that need doing around here. Of course!

We're thankful for God's work in our kids lives. Andy is in a relationship with Ryoko Komatsu in southern California. He changed his major to International Business and continues study at Cal Poly Pomona.

Melissa is deciding between 4 schools here in Florida that accepted her. We hope to get her back for a visit to Japan before graduation to see some of her former classmates.

Josh is thriving in second grade and loves little league, basketball and his new Wii.

We appreciate your prayers for us as we seek to serve the Lord and help send more of his people to the waiting world. Let's trust him together for more kingdom impact in 2011 and beyond!
